Activity Description:

This activity is designed to introduce and make young children aware of their own feelings and the feelings of others.

Lesson Guidelines:

- Obtain posters that depict various emotions and create a bulletin board entitled “Feelings and Emotions”.
- Introduce the concept of feelings using the bulletin board display.
- Have pictures similar to the bulletin board in a small bag and have students select a picture and not share it with anyone.
- Instruct them to “act out” the emotion depicted and ask other students to identify the feeling such as sad, happy, afraid, etc.

Activity Enhancements:

- Ask students to write or complete short statements such as “I feel happy when...” This helps the student to “own” his/her feelings.
- Give scenarios such as “How do you feel when someone teases you?” This discussion helps students become sensitive to the feelings of others.
